Class Description

Students will build on the competencies gained in the previous level to attain the required C1.1 standard. Particular emphasis will be given to in-depth analysis of a range of contemporary texts that could include short stories, poetry, newspaper/magazine articles and TED talks. Students will be expected to convey a solid understanding of complex language structures and devices, to question and interpret specific cultural references, and to be capable of transmitting such skills through speaking and writing. Argument construction and organisation will be developed and practised through classroom discussion and various types of writing.

Grading and Assessment

Assessment criteria: A discursive essay: 20%; a short play (written and performed as part of a group): 20%; a piece of creative prose: 20%; Participation: 40%.
